

VOCAB LIST #1 / SAT PREP QUIZ #1

Vocab Practice:

Read the following sentences. Then, using context clues and the Latin/Greek root, define the underlined word.

1. At the time, we thought “skinny jeans” were fashionable, but in retrospect, we can look back now and see that they were really quite creepy.

Finish the sentence logically, considering the definition of the underlined word.

2. When his backpack strap broke because of the unfair weight of all of his new textbooks, T-Bone Rockefeller improvised by . . .

Use your understanding of Latin/Greek roots to determine the best definition for each word.

3. Speculate:

- A. (adj) being joyful
- B. (v) to glow or emit light
- C. (v) to look upon and reflect

4. Relucent:

- A. (adj) deceptive, creating a false appearance
- B. (v) to reappear after a period of time
- C. (adj) reflecting light, shining

Read the following sentences and choose the best word to complete the sentence.

5. The instructions to his new TV remote control were anything but -----, so Grandpa ----- his favorite game show, Wheel of Fortune.

- A. invidious . . . erased
- B. circumspect . . . enjoyed
- C. lucid . . . missed

6. The candidates for Fair Queen were asked by the judges to ----- their plans to make the food stands at the Lampeter Fair healthier.

- A. elucidate
- B. improvise
- C. prospect

7. Alexis knew that Mr. Marsh’s class was going to be challenging, but she was secretly happy by the ----- of learning a lot this semester.

- A. lucidity
- B. specter
- C. prospect

8. Mark would never describe himself as -----, and that is why he ----- stuck his fork into the electrical outlet.
- A. phototropic . . . carelessly
  - B. circumspect . . . recklessly
  - C. providential . . . carefully
9. My cousin dropped out of college to pursue a career in ----- because an editor from Seventeen magazine told her that she was -----.
- A. modeling . . . photogenic
  - B. writing . . . phototropic
  - C. photography . . . translucent
10. Tired of his English homework, Collin decided to write a(n) ----- review of Mr. Marsh on RateMyTeacher.com in retaliation.
- A. invidious
  - B. phosphorescent
  - C. circumspect

SAT Prep (Vocab-in-Context):

Read the following sentences and choose the best word(s) to complete the sentence.

11. Once the principal ----- that the fire alarm had been set off by accident, she apologized to the suspected students and announced that they had been -----.
- A. understood . . . apprehended
  - B. denied . . . punished
  - C. realized . . . pardoned
12. To avoid being -----, composer Stephen Sondheim strives for an element of surprise in his songs.
- A. informal
  - B. elaborate
  - C. predictable
13. Because the pandas had already been weakened by disease and drought, a harsh winter would have had ----- consequences for them.
- A. preventive
  - B. unforeseen
  - C. catastrophic
14. Just as glass windows offer buildings both light and insulation, certain atmospheric gases ----- incoming sunlight and ----- heat radiated from the ground, preventing warmth from escaping.
- A. deflect . . . transmit
  - B. admit . . . contain
  - C. resist . . . trap
15. Though Ansley eagerly sought Hannah's -----, she subsequently chose not to listen to that advice.
- A. cooperation
  - B. secretiveness
  - C. counsel

Bonus Questions:

Read each passage, and then select the best answer to the question that follows.

Passage #1

Children might be benefitting from some high-tech toys and gadgets, computers, and video games. Perhaps they are gaining useful skills, such as eye-hand coordination. But I disagree that time spent with these toys, supplemented with time spent in highly structured activities such as sports leagues, constitutes child-appropriate playtime. What happened to the days of exploration, of children creating games and amusements? What happened to children following their own inclinations and entertaining themselves? Children who are dragged from activity to activity, or mindlessly, immersed in electronic games, are missing out not only on some of the joys of childhood, but also on the opportunity to learn how to be self-reliant in the absence of pre-manufactured fun.

The author mentions sports leagues as an example of

- A. a way for children to get more exercise
- B. a child-appropriate activity
- C. a healthy but dull activity
- D. an activity that detracts from children's creativity
- E. the worst way that children can spend their time

Passage #2

While the Wright brothers are generally given credit for being the fathers of modern air travel, they owe a great debt to Otto Lilienthal, who wrote extensively about flight during the later part of the nineteenth century. He was the first to create a working glider – a carefully engineered set of wings that carried him from a high leap across a distance of about eighty feet. He also constructed several flying machines of increasing sophistication. His ideas directly influenced the Wright brothers, who first built gliders and, eventually, a machine that ran on gasoline engine power.

The passage suggests that the difference between Lilienthal's flying machines and the Wright brothers' was that

- A. the Wright brothers put a great deal of thought into their flying machines, whereas Lilienthal stumbled upon his by luck
- B. the Wright brothers' flying machine was successful, but Lilienthal's was not
- C. Lilienthal was concerned only with conquering distance, not altitude
- D. the Wright brothers built one flying machine, while Lilienthal made several
- E. the Wright brothers' machine used fuel and Lilienthal's did not

VOCAB LIST #1 / SAT PREP QUIZ #1: ANSWERS

Vocab Practice:

Read the following sentences. Then, using context clues and the Latin/Greek root, define the underlined word.

1. At the time, we thought “skinny jeans” were fashionable, but in retrospect, we can look back now and see that they were really quite creepy.

Retrospect (spect = to look): to look back

Finish the sentence logically, considering the definition of the underlined word.

2. When his backpack strap broke because of the unfair weight of all of his new textbooks, T-Bone Rockefeller improvised by . . .

applying his mad duct tape skills and engineering a new one.

Use your understanding of Latin/Greek roots to determine the best definition for each word.

3. Speculate:

- A. (adj) being joyful
- B. (v) to glow or emit light
- C. (v) to look upon and reflect

4. Relucent:

- A. (adj) deceptive, creating a false appearance
- B. (v) to reappear after a period of time
- C. (adj) reflecting light, shining

Read the following sentences and choose the best word to complete the sentence.

5. The instructions to his new TV remote control were anything but -----, so Grandpa ----- his favorite game show, Wheel of Fortune.

- A. invidious . . . erased
- B. circumspect . . . enjoyed
- C. lucid . . . missed

6. The candidates for Fair Queen were asked by the judges to ----- their plans to make the food stands at the Lampeter Fair healthier.

- A. elucidate
- B. improvise
- C. prospect

7. Alexis knew that Mr. Marsh’s class was going to be challenging, but she was secretly happy by the ----- of learning a lot this semester.

- A. lucidity
- B. specter
- C. prospect

8. Mark would never describe himself as -----, and that is why he ----- stuck his fork into the electrical outlet.
A. phototropic . . . carelessly
B. circumspect . . . recklessly
C. providential . . . carefully
9. My cousin dropped out of college to pursue a career in ----- because an editor from Seventeen magazine told her that she was -----.
A. modeling . . . photogenic
B. writing . . . phototropic
C. photography . . . translucent
10. Tired of his English homework, Collin decided to write a(n) ----- review of Mr. Marsh on RateMyTeacher.com in retaliation.
A. invidious
B. phosphorescent
C. circumspect

SAT Prep (Vocab-in-Context):

Read the following sentences and choose the best word(s) to complete the sentence.

11. Once the principal ----- that the fire alarm had been set off by accident, she apologized to the suspected students and announced that they had been -----.
A. understood . . . apprehended
B. denied . . . punished
C. realized . . . pardoned
12. To avoid being -----, composer Stephen Sondheim strives for an element of surprise in his songs.
A. informal
B. elaborate
C. predictable
13. Because the pandas had already been weakened by disease and drought, a harsh winter would have had ----- consequences for them.
A. preventive
B. unforeseen
C. catastrophic
14. Just as glass windows offer buildings both light and insulation, certain atmospheric gases ----- incoming sunlight and ----- heat radiated from the ground, preventing warmth from escaping.
A. deflect . . . transmit
B. admit . . . contain
C. resist . . . trap
15. Though Ansley eagerly sought Hannah's -----, she subsequently chose not to listen to that advice.
A. cooperation
B. secretiveness
C. counsel

Bonus Questions:

Read each passage, and then select the best answer to the question that follows.

Passage #1

Children might be benefitting from some high-tech toys and gadgets, computers, and video games. Perhaps they are gaining useful skills, such as eye-hand coordination. But I disagree that time spent with these toys, supplemented with time spent in highly structured activities such as sports leagues, constitutes child-appropriate playtime. What happened to the days of exploration, of children creating games and amusements? What happened to children following their own inclinations and entertaining themselves? Children who are dragged from activity to activity, or mindlessly, immersed in electronic games, are missing out not only on some of the joys of childhood, but also on the opportunity to learn how to be self-reliant in the absence of pre-manufactured fun.

The author mentions sports leagues as an example of

- A. a way for children to get more exercise
- B. a child-appropriate activity
- C. a healthy but dull activity
- D. an activity that detracts from children's creativity
- E. the worst way that children can spend their time

Passage #2

While the Wright brothers are generally given credit for being the fathers of modern air travel, they owe a great debt to Otto Lilienthal, who wrote extensively about flight during the later part of the nineteenth century. He was the first to create a working glider – a carefully engineered set of wings that carried him from a high leap across a distance of about eighty feet. He also constructed several flying machines of increasing sophistication. His ideas directly influenced the Wright brothers, who first built gliders and, eventually, a machine that ran on gasoline engine power.

The passage suggests that the difference between Lilienthal's flying machines and the Wright brothers' was that

- A. the Wright brothers put a great deal of thought into their flying machines, whereas Lilienthal stumbled upon his by luck
- B. the Wright brothers' flying machine was successful, but Lilienthal's was not
- C. Lilienthal was concerned only with conquering distance, not altitude
- D. the Wright brothers built one flying machine, while Lilienthal made several
- E. the Wright brothers' machine used fuel and Lilienthal's did not

